Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: The applicant's representatives argued the combination of the references as applied to claim 1. Specifically, the applicant's representatives argued that there is no teaching within the references that emission will be more stable if the structure taught by Ito et al. is used in place of the structure taught by Itoh et al. and furthermore that the structure could even be used with the invention of Itoh et al. While the examiner noted that Ito et al. does state in paragraph [0022] that more stable electron emission takes place with the structure it teaches, the examiner agreed with the applicant's representatives that there would be no expectation of success in combining the references and that there is no way to tell from the references that more stable emission would be caused by the structure of Ito et al. within the device of Itoh et al. The applicant's representatives also agreed to amend the claims to clarify that light emission does not occur in the first period in order to distinguish the claims from the teachings of Itoh et al. Therefore, the examiner has agreed to research the application when the after-final amendment is submitted.
